DESCRIPTORS: *Petroleum, Recovery, Water
injection, Air, Pressure,

In a discussion of the air-repressuring and water-flooding methods tried out, it is stated that in one of the cases the oxygen content of the injected air was almost completely absorbed by the oil in the strata. Displacement of oil from a producing stratum by alkaline water is 13% greater than by hard water, e.g., sea water.
The latter should be used only for flooding strata which contain hard water, to avoid plugging of the pores by precipitation upon mixing the different waters. (Author)
